Early Treaty Hits Snag on Nuclear Tests

By DORIAN FALK

GENEVA (AP)—Western hopes for an early treaty with the Soviets on banning nuclear weapons tests appeared today running into the same old snags that have plagued the talks for 2½ years.

With the resumed conference recessed for the weekend, a revival of the propaganda battle for world opinion appeared shaping up.

The Soviet news agency Tass said today the United States and Britain are trying to give the impression of offering "new sweeping proposals" and "far-reaching concessions" while the Soviet Union is standing pat.

The Tass correspondent, I. Maksimovskiy, said that the Western powers are "marking time and, in effect, glossing over the Soviet Union's constructive proposals."

The conference sessions are secret but the Tass reporter said the U.S.S.R. submitted "new important proposals" when the talks resumed last Monday. No details were given.

This was the first indication the Soviets had made any new proposals.

Chief Soviet Delegate Semyon K. Tsarapkin has repeatedly told newsmen that he would hear out the new Western plan before making any move in the conference.

The Soviets outside the conference room have dismissed the proposals offered by the United States and Britain as concessions, calling them "their old positions."

Britain's chief delegate, David Ormsby-Gore, had spoken of the prospects of a treaty "within weeks" when he arrived here last weekend. These hopes appear dimming.

American delegate Arthur H. Dean has carried most of the initiative in the meetings so far.

Western diplomats said the Western powers are determined to proceed unshaken and with patience in order to demonstrate their firm desire to conclude a test ban agreement which offers no one the possibility of cheating.

Construction Bill Defended by Hendrix

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Representatives of two state institutions rose to the defense of Gov. Orval E. Faubus' $16 million omnibus construction bill after a suit was filed challenging its constitutionality.

A Niles Florentz of Little Rock, chairman of the Arkansas Children's Colony board, intervened in the suit filed Thursday Pulaski County Rep. J. H. Cottrell.

Florentz said loss of money from the law would force a hardship on the colony and force discharge of several children.

State Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott, chairman of the State House board, charged that the suit was inspired by opponents of Faubus' program.

Cottrell's suit, in Polaski Chancery Court, termed the bill a "pork barrel" measure and said it was a potential political weapon. He said it was an unconstitutional appropriation act.

Florentz, in his intervention, said that $400,000 in federal aid would be lost if the bill were nullified.

The omnibus bill, a companion measure to the governor's proposed $60 million construction bond issue, provides for expenditures for minor state construction and other items.

The bond issue, which will be voted on in a special election, is not connected with the suit.

Cottrell contended the omnibus measure violates constitutional requirements that all monies appropriated, except for constitutional offices and the courts, must be in separate bills dealing with individual matters.

The suit is expected to eventually reach the Arkansas Supreme Court.

Named as defendants are Faubus and four other members of the State Construction Board and State Treasurer J. Vance Clayton, whose office would pay appropriations provided by the bill.

Macmillan Leaves for Long Tour

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan left by air today for a 19-day visit to the United States, Canada and the West Indies. He said he has "much to talk about" with President Kennedy.

Aides said that despite the urgency of the Laotian crisis, Macmillan is adhering to his original schedule calling for a visit first to the West Indies and meetings with Kennedy April 5-6.

The prime minister went aboard his plane after only a few hours sleep, having been kept up by an emergency midnight Cabinet session on the Laotian crisis and Kennedy's statement on Laos at his news conference.

Macmillan did not mention Laos in his airport statement. But the critical situation in the Southeast Asian kingdom undoubtedly was much in his mind when he said of his forthcoming meeting with the American president: "I hope we shall make progress in settling or moving toward the settlement of the many problems that confront us in the free world today."

Fulbright Warns About School Aid

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has warned that the adoption of President Kennedy's school aid bill would cost Arkansas $800,000 in cutbacks of federal impactation funds to the state's public schools.

Fulbright said he supports the President's program but not the impactation cuts.

Impactation money is paid by the federal government in lieu of taxes to school districts with federal installations.

The Kennedy proposal threatens two types of impactation aid, Fulbright said in a letter to the Pine Bluff Commercial, which had asked his feelings on the measure.

First Fulbright said, the effects would be a loss in the present fiscal year from current funds of $985,657 to $601,870 for school operations during the next fiscal year. Additionally, construction funds would drop from $884,000 to $401,500.

Resort Isle Is in Need of Bread

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP)—The Coast Guard watched for a break in the fog today so it could send a helicopter on a mercy mission to this isolated, weather-bound resort island.

Residents were out of bread, milk and produce and Dr. Joseph Solomon, the only physician on the island, said an elderly woman patient, Ella Chambers, 76, should be in a mainland hospital.

Fog has shrouded the island for three days.

The island — perched in the straits between Michigan's upper and lower peninsulas — has been cut off from the mainland by an early thaw. The ice bridge connecting the couple of miles of water from the island to Upper Michigan has crumbled, but there is still too much ice for boats to cross. The island's airfield is too muddy for planes to land.

A Coast Guard spokesman at Traverse City, Mich., said Lt. Cmdr. Lavine Hubert of Kalamazoo, Mich., would fly the helicopter to the island and survey the situation.

If it was felt she was needed, the icebreaker Mackinac could be dispatched to clear a path to the mainland and take Mrs. Chambers ashore.

Church Publication Has New Editor

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — William D. Leavitt, a former newspaperman, will become Methodist information director and managing editor of the Arkansas Methodist and Louisiana Methodist newspapers.

Selection of Leavitt, a native of El Dorado now working in Benton, was announced Thursday by the Rev. Alfred A. Knox, editor of the two church newspapers.

Leavitt will fill vacancies created by the resignations of Mrs. Jeanne Mason Smith as information director and of James Miner as managing editor of the papers.

Leavitt has worked on the El Dorado Daily News and Evening Times, Fordyce News-Advocate, Arkansas Democrat and Ouachita Citizen at Camden.

The SEATO talks bring together Rusk, Lord Home, Serrano and Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies of Australia, Prime Minister Keith Holyoake of New Zealand, French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville, Foreign Minister Manzur Qadir of Pakistan, and Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman of Thailand.

The Communists are holding a Warsaw Pact conference next Tuesday, with Laos sure to get major attention. Moscow diplomatic sources said the meeting may be attended by Soviet Premier Khrushchev himself, along with other Communist heads of government.

Ministers of SEATO Meet on Laos Crisis

By TONY ESCODA

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Foreign ministers of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO) rushed here today for a crisis conference on Laos.

Ready for them is a defense blueprint, drawn up by SEATO military experts who favor the hard U.S. line and want the alliance's fighting power strengthened.

Western military movements in the area were being kept secret, reportedly on orders of Washington. Sources in Manila said the U.S. aircraft carrier Bennington had sailed from the Subic Bay naval base into the South China Sea toward Laos several days ago, presumably with escort vessels.

Radio Moscow today agreed that the situation grows more serious daily in the jungle kingdom of Laos — a crossroads of the Communist and non Communist worlds in Asia. But the Soviets remained silent on Western peace proposals put forward by the British.

London's proposal is that Britain and the Soviet Union, as co-chairmen of the 1964 Geneva conference on Indochina, ask the warring factions in Laos to cease hostilities and revive the control commission of India, Poland and Canada. An international peace conference would then be called.

Prime Minister Nehru of India, asked by President Kennedy to use his prestige and influence with Moscow to achieve a Laotian cease fire, sent word to the President that he will do all he can. Official sources in New Delhi said Nehru wants the Soviets to make the next move on the British proposal.

A British Foreign Office spokesman said the Soviets promised to give "serious and urgent" consideration to Britain's proposals.

Leaving Britain, Foreign Secretary Lord Home was optimistic and saw a good chance that Moscow will accept London's proposals.

"I think the Russians are really concerned to see a genuinely neutral Laos," Lord Home said.

Another approach will be put before the SEATO ministers, who open their meeting Monday.

Philippine Foreign Secretary Felixberto Serrano said he will propose that the United Nations guarantee Laos' neutrality.

The foreign affairs chiefs of the SEATO nations will try to devise a peaceful solution to the problem of an impending Communist take-over in Laos. But the leaders have shown signs of solidarity in a determination to carry out their SEATO commitment to defend Laos by arms if everything else fails.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk, due in Bangkok tonight, said on a Honolulu stopover that "the responsibility of the SEATO nations must be realized in the event no peaceable settlement can be worked out."

Indian Goes on the Warpath

BENTONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — An Indian who called himself Chief Yellow Cloud, was wounded in the leg Thursday after a spree in which he fired several shots in a cafe, police said.

Deputy Sheriff Glenn Pyle said Marion Robert Coster, 23, identified as an Indian from Weeping Water, Neb., fired shots in a cafe and threatened several people.

When officers went to arrest him, Coster drove away in a truck with police in pursuit, then fled into a field on foot. Pyle said he fired six shots at Coster. One broke the man's leg.

Pyle said Coster had been drinking.

Kennedy Signs Bill for Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy today signed legislation providing additional unemployment insurance payments for as much as 13 weeks for jobless workers who have exhausted their benefits. Payments now can start in 15 days.

The measure had been tagged the No. 1 bill, for quickest action of the Kennedy administration. It was the first specific anti-recession measure enacted by the new Congress. Legislative action was completed Wednesday.

The administration estimates the benefits may go to some three million persons and amount in all to nearly $1 billion during the two-year authorized life of the program.

Persons who exhaust their basic benefits under the state-federal unemployment insurance system during the two years starting last July 1 are eligible to benefit from the new law.

The actual total of payments under the bill will depend on the course of the national economy during the coming months—on how many long-term unemployed there are.

It provides additional payments up to one-half the duration of the original benefits. This provision sets the maximum at 13 weeks, since the longest basic state program is for 26 weeks.

The unemployment compensation payments are made by the states. The federal government will, however, turn over to the states the money needed for extended payments.

With the aim of getting the money back for the U.S. Treasury, the bill provides for a special 4 of one per cent increase in the payroll tax paid by employers. This will be effective on wages paid during the two years starting next Jan. 1.

The basic tax will become 3.5 per cent on payroll. Existing arrangements under which the states reduce the tax for some employers with records of stable employment are not changed.

The Treasury advances to the states, as provided in the bill, are to be repaid out of the yield of the extra 4 per cent payroll tax levied nationwide.

The Senate Finance Committee reported that a minority of the states—those with heaviest unemployment—would obtain more in benefits than they would pay in tax. Among these states named were Michigan, New York, Pennsylvania, Kentucky, New Jersey, Alaska, Ohio and West Virginia.

As the law was enacted, there is no certainty as to how the individual states will fare as to money received versus money to be paid in taxes by the employers in that state.

The amount received will depend on numbers of long-term unemployed. The amount employers will pay in extra taxes will depend on payroll totals in the two-year period the higher tax is to be levied.

Although Tradition Credits State With Gold Mines, They Just Didn't Pan Out

By MARY ANITA LASETER
Star Feature Writer

"The increase in the international price of gold could lead to a revival of prospecting in the Arkansas hills," according to Clovis Copeland of the Arkansas Publicity Department.

A revival of gold prospecting? It was news to a great many of us that there ever was a Gold Rush in our fair state. The old state song (which alas! has gone the way of the dodo) tells of Arkansas' being "rich in pearls and diamonds rare," but no mention is made of gold.

But to play the politician "let's take a look at the record."

Organized explorations for precious metals began as far back as 1732 under the leadership of Bernard La Harpe. There seemed to be no doubt that there was a presence of gold, for an engineer had reported "little streams, which had gold dust in their waters." But they failed to find the treasure.

In 1809 a hunter found traces of gold in lumps of quartz crystal on the north side of the Arkansas River about 15 miles above Little Rock. When the assay at New Orleans proved the ore discovered was indeed gold, the news spread like wildfire, and a full scale gold rush began.

A mining camp was established at what is now Little Rock. When no gold was found there, they moved four miles upstream. Some traces were found, but none in paying quantities. Meanwhile, the hunters directed his party to his find at Crystal Hill and shafts were sunk there. Prospects were so promising that a smelter was moved in.

Again the mine failed to develop though, and the next move was to Dardanelle where the Caddo Indians had found gold. Then, they were lured to the hills of Montgomery County. Indians drove them off that land, and with conflicting disturbances the group finally abandoned its effort in Arkansas.

The greatest activity in gold mining took place between 1885 and 1890, when it was estimated that gold-mining companies capitalized at more than $1 million were engaged in prospecting in western Arkansas. However, though people in many western counties were involved in this, people in Hempstead were not.

Tradition credits Arkansas with many gold and silver mines. The first settlers at Arkansas Post in 1696 heard from the Indians the existence of a mine on the Ouachita and of the unsuccessful search for it made by DeSota. Though many expeditions were sent westward, their efforts were fruitless.

Legend has it that the Aztecs operated gold and silver mines in Arkansas and 12 such mines were supposed to have been located in the isolated sections of the Ozark mountains.

News of gold in Logan County sent a rush of prospectors into that section in 1886. A town sprang up overnight. A post office, "Golden City," was established. Everything was going fine until it was discovered that the mine had been "salted" with Colorado gold dust.

"There's gold in them thar hills" has sometimes referred to the hills of Arkansas, but, apparently, it didn't "pan out" for any one.

When newsmen, after the committee session was concluded, sought elaboration from Wiley, the senator responded, "I'm sure I didn't say that."

"I said that India had troops in Africa and they probably would be sending troops," he added.

"The situation is up in the air. What we will do will depend on what the Kremlin will do in the next 48 hours."

Wiley's post-session remarks about India's possibly sending forces, presumably on a peace-making mission, put perspective on his "I hope so" statement in the committee hearing. Newsmen, however, heard no reference to Continued on Page Two

Working Boys Questioned by the LAC

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported today that a record two-thirds of all the major industrial areas in the nation are now experiencing substantial unemployment.

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg said 25 more such areas have been added to the list of labor markets in which 6 per cent of the local work force is without jobs.

The additions include such large centers as Chicago, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, San Francisco-Oakland, Seattle, Syracuse, New Orleans, Miami and Boston.

At the same time the Labor Department's latest survey of job conditions in 150 major industrial areas showed that employers expect a hiring pickup from now to mid-May. The rise was forecast to be largely seasonal but to produce gains somewhat larger than in the corresponding months of the 1958 recession.

This was the one bright spot in the otherwise gloomy spring outlook. Employers in 9 out of 10 of the areas expect at least some job gains between March and May.

Wiley was among the congressional leaders who were given a briefing on Laos Wednesday by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Galbraith said at one point that he hoped for the ultimate recognition of Communist China, provided the Peiping regime is willing to recognize the independence of Formosa.

"You are going into a delicate area," Wiley said, adding: "We will probably be sending troops into Laos. I do not know, but I hope so."

Wiley did not elaborate on his remark.

The new law provides for additional payments up to one-half the duration of original benefits for those who exhaust their unemployment compensation in the two years beginning last July 1. The maximum extension will be 13 weeks, since the longest basic program in any of the states provides for 26 weeks.

The government will advance the money to the states and get it back through a four-tenths of 1 per cent increase in the tax on employers which finances the program.

Goldberg reported that of the 150 major industrial areas the number experiencing 6 per cent or more unemployment—regarded by the government as "substantial"—grew from 76 in January to 101 in March.

This is the highest such total on record. The peak in the 1958 recession was 89 areas so classified.

Other major areas newly rated as having substantial unemployment include Fresno, San Jose and Stockton, Calif.; New Haven, Conn.; Wilmington, Del.; Tampa-St. Petersburg, Fla.; Rockford, Ill.; Wichita, Kan.; Kalamazoo, Lansing and Saginaw, Mich.; Manchester, N.H.; Tulsa, Okla.; and Kenosha and Racine, Wis.

A separate listing of smaller areas having substantial unemployment exceeding 6 per cent increased during the January-March period from 152 to 184.

Not a single area covered by the study showed job improvement. Some that had already been in the hard-hit category last January were shifted to ratings indicating even heavier unemployment.

Grand Jury Calls for Information

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—A Sebastian County Grand Jury has asked anyone who thinks he has information which might be helpful in an investigation of school finances here to volunteer as a witness.

The Grand Jury already has questioned 19 witnesses since it began looking into financial affairs of the Fort Smith School District on March 9.

The Fort Smith School Board asked for the investigation after Preston Rose, 37, former school maintenance superintendent, pleaded guilty to 18 counts of embezzling school property.

Husband an Iceberg
Chills Wife's Love

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen:
As I write this letter I am of my wife end. There seems to be no one to turn to but you in the hope that either you or your readers will have an answer to my terrible problem.

I am married six years to the coldest and most unfeeling person I've ever met. He is so quiet, such a bore and hasn't the slightest idea of love or affection. He goes months on end without coming near me or saying a nice word.

We are both in our late twenties. I need love and affection. True, when I married, my husband showed no great love but I figured it would grow. Having born this iceberg two children, I feel trapped. Yet, if I don't act soon they are bound to be hurt because all their father and I do is fight.

Believe me, I've tried to make ours a happy marriage but it's all one sided. Each day is worse than the one before. I love my children and am a good mother but as for being a good wife, I'm up against a stone wall when I try. —So Unhappy

Dear So Unhappy: Why did you marry this iceberg? Was it for love or security? From what you say, I fear it was for the latter reason and now you're paying for the mistake.

Why did he marry you?
If you two answer these questions truthfully, it may clear the atmosphere and bring you both back to where you started. You seem to want a divorce. Does he want the children—suppose he wanted them, would the odds be for or against you? If you won, could your husband afford, or be willing to pay enough alimony to support you and the children?

All these questions should be thought out before you take any serious step. If the scales tip in your favor and your religion recognizes divorce, then get one, for to live with a man you hate is wronging both yourself and him.

Dear Helen:
My fiancée and I planned for some time to be married and build our own home. Recently his mother passed away, leaving him her home. My fiancée wants us to be married and live there with an older brother. I love him very much but my friends say never to live with in-laws. What should I do? —A Troubled Heart

Dear Troubled Heart: Don't! You and your husband will have your own life to live. In-law aside (reason enough for not moving in with the older brother), two's company and three is a crowd. But even if older brother were not around, you would be making one big mistake to move into your mother-in-law's home and let the past overshadow you, as it certainly would. Start afresh. Carve your own past, present and future.

After being a housewife for 30 years, I got a job and, as a result, ride back and forth daily on the subway. You may laugh, but this was a thrill to me, as was being at the shop and talking to my fellow workers. I felt so friendly I even treated them all to candy several times.

Now, months later I realize that most of the people I see in the subway and at the shop are rough, rude and cold. If I make one little mistake, they swear and push me around. I had a talk with my husband about this. He says it's the same everywhere. What should I do? —Mrs. Bewildered

Dear Mrs. Bewildered: Your husband is right as far as he went. People are the same the world over; rich, poor, high and low—you'll find bad mixed in with the good. But, and this your husband didn't mention, the good outnumber the bad. So take heart and, above all, keep your sense of humor. Send a stamped self-addressed envelope for my leaflet on this subject.

Send your problems to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address her care of this newspaper.

State Plans to Step Up TB Battle

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Armed with $100,000 in fresh money, the state Health Department will step up its continuing battle against tuberculosis July 1.

The 1961 Legislature gave the department $100,000 in state money for the tuberculosis control program, the first such appropriation ever from state funds.

"It's not as much as we'd like to have, but it's a start in the right direction," said Dr. J.T. Herron, state health officer.

The Health Department asked the Legislature for $439,000 a year for tuberculosis control. "This was what we needed for a maximum program — the kind of program that could stamp out TB in one generation," Herron said.

Both state and federal money will not be available until the new fiscal year starts July 1.

Then the department will hire 10 new nurses for assignment to counties with a high incidence of tuberculosis and it will accelerate its X-ray and skin test programs for early detection of the disease.

The tuberculosis program has made great gains since it began operating mobile X-ray units in the late 1940s and since discovery of drugs which are effective against the tuberculosis germ.

For example, in 1951, the earlier years for which accurate figures are available, there were 2,174 new cases of TB and 535 TB deaths. This was reduced to 700 cases and 188 deaths in 1959, the last year for which complete figures are available.

National health officials estimate that tuberculosis could be stamped out in one generation (about 20 years) with an inclusive detection and treatment program.

The state has the treatment facilities — at the Booneville and McRae sanatoriums — but the detection program is far short of complete.

Tuberculosis is no longer the dreaded killer it once was. Before the new drugs, rest was the only treatment and patients were in incapacitated for years. Now, the contagious stage of the disease can be eliminated in six months and drove to the hospital.

The .25 caliber automatic was found outside the Rand home.

Mrs. Rand told officers at the time that Clark entered the bedroom while she was reading in bed and that she fired when he advanced on her after she had asked him to leave. The gun was on a nearby night table, police said.

Mrs. Rand's husband, J. O. Rand, was in Georgia at an Army Reserve camp at the time. He headed northwest Arkansas reserve units and also was president of the Rogers School Board at the time of the shooting.

The Rands have two sons and Mrs. Rand, whose 40th birthday came during her first trial, was active in Rogers civic and club affairs.

The Supreme Court, in reversing Mrs. Rand's conviction and eight-year sentence, ruled that testimony had been admitted in the first trial which "tended to show that Mrs. Rand was a woman of bad character and Mrs. Rand's character had not been placed in issue." The court said her admission to Rogers police and the use of a deadly weapon was "sufficient to justify a conviction."

The testimony at which the court dealt with unsigned cards and letters, anonymous telephone calls and a statement by Clark's widow that Mrs. Rand had kicked her in the stomach when she was pregnant.

Mrs. Clark also testified about taunting telephone calls and cards and letters which she had received.

About 50 prosecution witnesses were called during the first trial. The defense, in a surprise move, rested without calling any witnesses.

The conviction was reversed Dec. 12 and a second trial was set for Feb. 13. But Mrs. Rand's attorneys asked to have U.S. District Court at Fort Smith take jurisdiction in the case, claiming that prejudice made it impossible for her to get a fair trial in circuit court.

Judge John E. Miller rejected this request. He said that Mrs. Rand had not sought a change of venue out of Benton County. The high court later rejected a defense contention that its opinion had not directed a retrial.

The trial is expected to last several days, once a jury is selected.

Miss Elizabeth Wilson, Miss Judy Horne and Mrs. Mary Jo Arnold attended a meeting of Beauty Unit No. 11 in Gurdon Tuesday night.

Promises War Group Equal Facilities

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has pledged action toward providing Negroes with equal accommodations when they attend any Civil War Centennial Commission function in the South.

Kennedy told his news conference Thursday night that the commission's decision that it cannot require Southern hotel keepers to provide rooms for Negro representatives can't go unchallenged.

The President said the Civil War group is an official body of the government, sustained by federal funds and its membership filled in part by federal appointments.

"It is my strong belief that any program of this kind in which the United States is engaged should provide facilities and meeting places which do not discriminate on the ground of race or color," Kennedy said.

He said he is getting in touch with Gen. U. S. Grant III, head of the commission, to see if something cannot be worked out that supports this principle, "because we cannot leave the situation as it is today."

Kennedy gave no hint of what action he might take. But Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D-N.C., said in an interview that short of persuading the centennial group not to hold meetings in the South, he doesn't know what the President can do.

The controversy arose when a Negro member of the New Jersey centennial group said she had been denied a room at a Charleston, S. C. hotel for a scheduled meeting of state affiliates April 11-12. The New Jersey unit voted to boycott the session, and the New York and Illinois groups took similar action Thursday.

In a discussion of another aspect of the civil rights problem, Kennedy said he had signed the "strongest federal order that had ever been issued" to make it certain that government contractors and the government itself does not permit racial discrimination in hiring workers.

"This matter of the use of executive authority in order to establish equality of opportunity in all areas is a matter which will have the continuing interest of this administration," he promised.

and a complete cure effected in another 18 months. The last 18 months of treatment may be had outside a hospital.

Skin testing has surpassed the mobile X-ray as an initial detection device and Herron is anxious to try a statewide skin testing program. Until now, the only public skin testing in Arkansas has been done by county health departments. The TB detection funds available all were allocated to X-ray.

The mobile X-ray units won't be abandoned, Herron said, but they will be co-ordinated with skin testing. And, of course, after a skin test shows positive, X-rays still are needed to pinpoint the diagnosis.

"We're going to try to make both our X-ray and skin testing programs more selective," Herron said. "We want to operate more in areas of high incidence so we'll discover more cases in relation to the number of persons examined. Some of our detection programs in past years have amounted to spinning our wheels because we've examined the same persons over and over again."

Early detection of TB is of prime importance. Virtually all cases can be cured if detected early enough.

Herron said Pulaski, Jefferson, Mississippi, Crittenden and Logan counties were among the high incidence counties.

"Most usually we find high incidence of tuberculosis in those counties with a heavy concentration of Negroes," he said. "We want to concentrate on the counties where we know the disease is."

Red Paper Says Plan Unacceptable

MOSCOW (AP)—The official Soviet government newspaper Izvestia said today the new American proposals at the Geneva nuclear test ban talks are not an acceptable basis for successful completion of the negotiations.

The paper said "when closely studied the so-called new American proposals appear to be a representation of the former American positions whose unacceptability the Soviet government and its representatives have exposed more than once"

The paper's comment was the first official government reaction to the U.S. proposals made at Geneva Tuesday.

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy's statement on seeking a peaceful solution to the Laos crisis has drawn bipartisan support from Senate leaders.

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, said Kennedy indicated quite clearly in his news conference statement that the "situation which confronts us and our friends in Laos is extremely delicate, very grave and potentially dangerous. I am sure the American people will support the President in his efforts to reach an honorable settlement of the highly explosive situation."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, said Kennedy gave "a good factual explanation of the situation in terms of opposing forces, leadership difficulties and aggression with outside direction."

"I noted that he said there had been progress since 1954 toward stability and independence—which means that the Eisenhower administration had to deal with the problem and that there had to be progress because we started from scratch," Dirksen said. "We'll just have to listen to what the secretary of state gets back from the SEATO meeting and we see whether a cease-fire can be consummated."

Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, Democratic leader, said Kennedy indicated quite clearly in his news conference statement that the "situation which confronts us and our friends in Laos is extremely delicate, very grave and potentially dangerous. I am sure the American people will support the President in his efforts to reach an honorable settlement of the highly explosive situation."

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Republican leader, said Kennedy gave "a good factual explanation of the situation in terms of opposing forces, leadership difficulties and aggression with outside direction."

"I noted that he said there had been progress since 1954 toward stability and independence—which means that the Eisenhower administration had to deal with the problem and that there had to be progress because we started from scratch," Dirksen said. "We'll just have to listen to what the secretary of state gets back from the SEATO meeting and we see whether a cease-fire can be consummated."

Washington (AP)—President Kennedy's statement on seeking a peaceful solution to the Laos crisis has drawn bipartisan support from Senate leaders.

To VICTORY

...that is the cry of the multitude. Today we join the happy throngs around the earth as we shout together, "Hosanna!" Whatever the morrow may hold of suffering, today we declare to the world... "Christ has come." Because we are in His company, we know that God ultimately will be sovereign over all the world. We are confident that goodness is stronger than evil. We are sure love will triumph over hate. Whatever a Friday of crucifixion may bring of temporary defeat, we know life will triumph over death, and the Christian way will resolve itself supremely in the final destiny. Then Palm Sunday is a day to celebrate and set up our banner of hope. "For right is right as God is and right the day must win." This hope will convert, for us, spiritual defeat into eternal victory.
